We are pleased to share important information on behalf of the agency regarding the exclusive arrangements that Royal Air Maroc has put in place for the upcoming annual meetings of the World Bank Group and the International Monetary Fund, scheduled to be held in Marrakech from October 9 to 15.

Here are the key highlights:

Optimized Air Connections: Royal Air Maroc has planned for optimized air connections from major cities worldwide to Marrakech. Specifically, the Washington-Casablanca route will see an increase of 113% in the outgoing phase (2,332 seats) and 96% in the return phase (2,360 seats) compared to 2022. Three outbound flights will be operated as direct services from Washington Dulles International Airport (IAD) to Marrakech on October 4th, 6th, and 8th. This route will be operated with Boeing 787-9 Dreamliner aircraft. The Casablanca-Marrakech route will see an increase of 78% in the outgoing phase (7,506 seats) and 31% in the return phase (6,549 seats) compared to 2019. This route will be operated by medium-haul aircraft.

Other relevant direct routes to Marrakech will also be strengthened. Based on the numbers from the Bali edition of the annual meeting, Royal Air Maroc expects to cover 55% of the attendee flux.

Tariff Arrangements: For World Bank and IMF employees, corporate contracts have already been signed with their respective travel management companies, Amex GBT and BCD Travel, ensuring a streamlined booking and travel process. For other event participants, an exclusive promotional code will be provided, offering a 10% discount in business class and a 7% discount in economy class on flights from the Royal Air Maroc network to Casablanca and Marrakech. This offer will be valid from September 25 to October 30, 2023.
